SMASTA, Jan. 19.—Six inches of snow feel at this place today. The weather is now cold and foggy, with indications of further storm.

Dunsauir, Jan. 19.—About three feet of snow has fallen today and the weather is cold tonight. A party of six Western Union linemen, who left Gibson yesterday morning, arrived tonight, having traveled five miles of the distance on showshoes made from a telegraph polo. The force of snow showelers who have been working south from here cane in last night, after 48 hours' work on one meal. One engine was brought here, the others being snowed in without wood or water between the fourteenth and fifteenth crossings.

Superintendents Lindberger and Coley, with a force of men, three engines and a snowplow are now working southward. The snowplow which left here Wednesday arrived at Sisson tonight and immediately started back. Two of the engines on the Edgewood plow are disabled. The treatle north of Edgewood has been broken by a tree falling on it.

San Francisco, Jan. 19.—General Superintendent Fillmore of the Southern Facific, when asked today as to the condition of the roads on the Central Pacific and Ortegon lines said in substance: The northound train that Col. Crocker is on may reach Dunsmuir tonight. "There is a snowplow and a gang of shovelers working south from Edgewood. Two hundred and fifty men and a wreeking crew are with the plow. If snow had not fallen afresh this afternoon, Col. Crocker's train would almost certainly have reached Dunsmuir tonight, and possibly may reach there, yet at a late hour. If so, we may get a train through on the Oreson line tomornous train through on the Oreson line tomorn muir tonight, and possibly may reach there yet at a late hour. If so, we may get a train through on the Oregon line tomorrow (Monday) night. As to the Central Pacific, by doing heavy work, the line eastward may be open tomorrow night, but there is yet lots of work to be done on that line."

line." Many passengers who left the city during the past week on the various overland routes have returned to await the opening of the lines. The Atlantic and Pacific is enjoying an unusual run of passenger business, on account of the misfortunes of the other lines.

Two Escapes from the Frisco County Jail Gathered In.
SUNOL, Jan. 19.—[By the Associated Press.] J. McNuity and H. Edwards, two of the six prisoners who escaped from the County Jail in San Francisco last Sunday morning, were captured near Pleasanton this afternoon by Constable Jones of Wal nut Creek and H. C. Jones and R. E. McPherson.

McPherson.

The escaped prisoners stopped at a house near Doherty's Station last night, leaving there this morning. They were overtaken and recognized by the Jones brothers, who passed them and summoned McPherson to their aid. The three men then waited until the escapes came along the road, when they were covered by revolvers, taken and hand-cuffed without any trouble. The prisoners were taken to Pleasanton, and the party-left for San Francisco on the evening tank. McNulty, the murderer, had changed his clothing, and tried to disguise himself otherwise.

his clothing, and tried to disguise himself otherwise.

SAN FRANCISCO, Jab. 19.—McNulty and Edwards, the escaped prisoners, who were captured near Pleasanton this afternoon, were brought here this evening and lodged in the County Jail.

The first clew to McNulty's identity was given by his craving for whisky. When in sight of Walnut Creek on Thursday, both men were wet and cold and McNulty insisted that they should go into a saloon and take a drink. While there one of the menin the room thought he recognized McNulty by the published description. Both prisoners soon left, but a search was instituted. They cludded their pursuers for the time, but were discovered this afternoon sitting on a gangplow near the read. The prisoners surrendered after a short parley.

Resisted Arrest. RED BLUFF, Jan. 19.—Jim Myers re-sisted arrest last night and struck Marshal Robertson over the head with his pistol, and then fired a shot at the officer. He was overpowered and taken to just. Myers shot a conductor in Fresno county several months ago, but escaped prosecution.

RAILROADINGS.

WINTER TRAVEL FORTNIGHTLY MORE TALK OF A FORTH-COMING RATE WAR,

Confirmatory Reports from San Francisco, Where the Fun Has Already Commenced - The "La Grippe" Holding Down Many Railroad Men-Notes.

That peculiar disease, la grippe, seems to have taken a firm hold on the railroad men of this city. There are at least fifty now confined to their homes, from general managers down to brakemen, and several of them are so low that their recovery is doubtful. There were several cases reported yesterday, and if the disease is not checked very soon there will be but few men left in

In speaking of the threatened rate war, the Chronicle of Friday says:

A few days ago it was intimated in the Chronicle that rates were being cut between this city and the Missouri River, that is to Omaha and Kansas City, also from here to Chicago and New York. Yesterday indisputable proof was obtained that such cuttime is actually going on.

William Bedell, agent of the Pennsylvania line, purchased in the offices of the Eric lines a ticket to New York for $3.50 below the regular rates. Mr. High, the agent of the Chesapeake and Ohio, was also caught in similar business. For a trunk line agent to cut transcontinental rates is a direct violation of the agreement.

The Rio Grande Western and the Chicago and Rock Island have also been cutting rates. The cut to the Missouri River on those lines is from $1 to $2. From here to Chicago it varies between $3 and $4, and to New York the cut is $5. There is no doubt whatever that these cuts are being made. It is not pretended that the general agent in any of the offices will personally make the cut, but his employés, acting, under his direction, as he no doubt does under directions from his headquarters, instruct passengers when cut rates can be had. The cuts made originate in the headquarters of the different offices, as no agent would risk his position by cutting the rates without orders, much less would he make good the amount of the cut out of his own pocket. patent adjustable Shoe. Some severe criticisms have been made against the Supervisors for not opening a boulevard to Pasadena. The Supervisors have made propositions to the citizens on the East Side that they would open a boulevard to Pasadena on any practicable route, provided the cities which it connects meet them at each and with a 100-foot street, nicely graded and graveled. Neither Los Angeles nor Pasadena have performed their part, and the question comes home to the kicker: Who is responsible for the delay?

The citizens on the Arroyo Seco bottoms are discussing the subject as to what the City Fathers mean by allowing the railroad companies to put in bridges across the river in such a way as to dam the water, change the current, ruin the adjoining property and endanger the entire bottom by the overflow. They claim they have bought their property in good faith; some of them have comfortable houses, and there is pienty of room in the channel for the water to run if not dammed by bridges put across the stream so as to obstruct the free passage of the water. Since the last heavy rains the railroad companies reconstructed their bridges in such a way as to completely change the current and throw the water against the banks, diverting the stream from its natural course.

MEMORIAL SERVICES For the Late Mrs. Robert G. Hutchins.

It was a pleasant surprise to the people of the First Congregational Church to see their pastor, so recently bereaved, filling his place in the pulpit for the Sabbath services. Sustained by an abiding trust in his Heavenly Father, he was able to continue his life work without delay, on account of his own individual sorrow. The morning sermon preached by the Reverend Doctor was a memorial one, and a most tender and beautiful tribute was most tender and beautiful tribute was it to the beloved and loving wife, who had so recently "gone home." A more gracious example of Christian womanhood; a more perfect examplar of devotion to the good of others; a more thoughtful, tender, loving and sincere friend; a more perfect wife; a more self-sacrificing, judicious and devoted mother country. more self-sacrificing, judicious and devoted mother cannot be found than the pure, intelligent, earnest, thoughtful, devout and loving woman portrayed by Dr. Hutchins in his memorial to his departed wife. A woman of large uprightness, of great charity for the faults of others, modest, unassuming, humble, yet always maintaining her self-respect and dignity of character, a woman, whose updement was almost woman whose judgment was almost infallible, she was, said the Doctor, "my mentor, reminding me of duties I might otherwise have forgotten; my might otherwise have forgotten; my solace when trouble assailed me, and whatever of success I have had in my long ministry I owe largely to her. And O how she loved this people. How dear to her were the ladies of this church. How earnest was her desire to see here an outpouring of God's spirit upon this congregation. She was not fully satisfied with the outcome of the week of prayer, and only last Monday she expressed herself to me as fearful that we were not doing enough for the salvation of souls. Her whole life was full of this spirit of Christ, and whoever knew her loved her. You have been very kind loved her. You have been very kind to us since we have been with you, and your kindness, I believe, has been largely because you loved my Harriet. And I believe that she knows what you have done for her since she has gone."

you have done for her since she has gone."

Amid the hush of tears and the silence of deep and sympathetic feeling did the congregation listen to the words of their sorrowing pastor, as he took so simply, yet pathetically, the beautiful story of the life which was the day star of his home, and he must have been comforted by the thought that "though dead, she yet speaketh," and that the memory and influence of her example may yet be the means of leading many among his people to a more earnest consecration to the Christian life. more earnest Christian life.

PARIS, Nov. 28, 1889.

The Directors of the Southern California National Bank, Los Angeles: The Universal Exposition at Paris showed us the confectionery products of North and South America. The Arrentine Republic alone displayed caudied fruits, which, without reflecting upon their quality, left much to be desired in their method of preparation.

I was much surprised not to find any such product in the United States department, having understood that California in particular produced a considerable quantity of these confections.

I imparted my surprise to a Paris commissioner, who every year buys a large quantity of candled fruits for New York, lie toid me, in reply, that an attempt had been made to manufacture them, but, not having met with success, it was supposed that the soil which produced these fruits was too rich: that in ten or twelve years, when the soil shall have become less rich, it would be possible to manufacture the fruits.

I am not of this opinion. The operators who have made the attempts do not underwhom have made the attempts do not underwho hav

AMONG THE ARTISTS.

AUTUMN IN NEW ENGLAND, BY REED.

Favorite Subjects for Local Artists

They Love the Old Missions— The Home of "Ramona"-Art Gaining a Strong Foothold-Art

We had the pleasure of looking at a picture the other day which brought back into this noontide of our life, for a few moments at least, the glory and the delight of childhood. It was the picture of an autumn sunset amid the wooded hills of New England, and was painted by the artist Reed, formerly of Chicago. There was the crimson and the golden splendor of the forest-crowned hills. How like the high priests of Nature they looked, wrapped in their flaming mantle of high priests of Nature they looked, wrapped in their flaming mantle of leaves! How stood forth the gleaming maple boughs like the Banner of the Highest upon the heights! Beneath them were the brownish-green meadows, covered with bronzed grasses. Wide and smoothly flowed the river, catching golden gleams of the dying sunlight. How leaned the swaying alders beside the stream, and the amberleaved sycamores cast their shadows into its deeps! Here and there a silver ripple kissed the tiny stones within the stream, and the green mosses fringed the river's edge.

But the strength and beauty of the picture, after all, lay in the atmospheric effects. Here wonderful technique and skill were displayed. The soit, intangible haze lay like a dream of beauty upon the hills. Like a transparent veil it floated above the river and the fields. It was drenched in the tender amber of the sunset, and yet blues and purples were mingled with it, such as Nature pours in her wonderful dyes upon the world. Looking upon the picture one would almost wait to catch the play of a leaf, and the silent, pulsating breath of the air. The picture is a poem full of the harmony of color and the rhythm of waiting silences. Nature breathes through it all, and childhood comes back to us, when amid such hills we wandered, and marveled if God were there painting the sky and the earth with the glory of His presence.

The old missions of California are favorite subjects with our local artists And well they may be, for these hoar old piles show many wonderful light and shadows amid their walls. Broken fragments with clinging ivies are there. Gray and hoary arches ove which the green vines clamber, as i Time were seeking to conceal the ravages he has wrought. Old church towers above tiled roofs climb and in them swing yet the century old bells. Here is both reality and sentiment for the painter, as well as the romance of his tory. And these old missions have also, almost universally the back ground of purple mountains, so that there is a wide field for the colorist and for the poetry of art. And well they may be, for these hoar

The visitor at our studios oft The visitor at our studios often meets, too, with the home of "Bamona"—the old adobe, with its broad verands, where once "Ramona" and "Allessandro" dreamed their dreams and began the repetition of the "old, old story." The true artist is a romancer as well as painter, and he loves the spot where so much of the poetry of life lingers. Very strong is the foothold which art is gaining with us, and praiseworthy is a good deal of the work that is being done in our midst.

The New York Commercial Adver tiser says that it has been rumored o tiser says that it has been rumored of late that the famous painting, "The Angelus," will be taken back to France, in accordance with an agreement between the American Art Association and the French authorities. The rumor seems to be confirmed by the following paragraph, written by the person connected with the exhibition in this city: Millet's "Angelus" enters with the coming week upon the closing days of its exhibition at the enters with the coming week upon the closing days of its exhibition at the American Art Galleries, Broadway and Twenty-third street. Judging from the daily increasing number of visitors, the exhibition might profitably be continued for a much longer time, but the American Art Association was compelled by the French authorities, before taking the picture out of France, to give a bond for its return within a specified time. Hence, under the arrangements entered into, the famous painting must leave here on the 15th inst., and only a few days yet remain during which it may be viewed.

It was understood that the painting was purchased by the American Art may be viewed.

It was understood that the painting was purchased by the American Art Association, and that it would remain permanently in this country.

When the picture was brought over under bond it was understood that it was to be exhibited in London and perhaps in Berlin, and that it would be brought back afterward to remain permanently in this country. It has been viewed here by at least 100,000 persons, and is the gem, of course, of the excellent exhibition which is about to close. The gentlemen who compose the American Art Association deny the rumor that "The Angelus" was only brought over fer exhibition purposes, and declare that according to their first statement the picture will be brought back to this country after having been exhibited in London and other cities. The rumor which was alrealled gave the information thas brought back to this country after having been exhibited in London and other cities. The rumor which was circulated gave the information that when the picture was purchased for the French government by M. Proust, the Chamber of Deputies objected to the high price paid, and would not pay the entire amount, but only a portion. It was then that Mr. Sutton of the American Art Association stepped in and offered to pay the difference between the purchase price and the amount appropriated, on condition that he be allowed to exhibit the painting in this country and in London.

Mr. Sutton emphatically denies these rumors, and declares that the paragraph sent out as published above is untrue and misleading.

"We have no bond with the French government at all," said Mr. Sutton. "The terms of the sale are well-known. M. Proust purchased the picture for the French government without proper authority. The Chamber of Deputies, for political reasons, perhaps, refused to appropriate anything for the painting, and I teck the painting off the hands of M. Froust. It was brought here under bond with the American Government. We did not pay the duties, because we wanted to take the painting to London.

"The exhibition here will close on January 15th or 16th, because we have contracted to sell the Barlow library. The painting will remain here in our galleries until some time in March, when our six months' limit of the bond is up, and we will send it to London. It will be exhibited there in May and June, and then we will probably send it to Berlin. It will then be brought back to America and kept here.

"We purchased a plot of ground in Forty-second street, between Broadway and Sixth avenue a week ago, and upon it we will build what we believe to be the finest galleries in America. In that gallery 'The Angelus' will be placed and kept. It will not be sold as long as this association exists. Our new galleries will be called the 'Angelus Galleries,' after the picture which we hope will for many years be its presiding genius."

The public understands the question by this time very fairly, and cannot be bamboozled any longer by specious attempts to explain the true facts away.

WE publish in another column some interesting estimates from the New York Sun of populations, made in advance of the eleventh census. In these estimates it seems that the population of the Southern States is estimated too high, and that of the Northern too low. The population allowed California-1,100,000-is certainly too low.

SELF-HELP.

Eastern people are coming to Southern California, though not so far in such large numbers as had been expected. As we have more than once remarked, it is about time for us to give up depending so largely upon the support of eastern tourists and healthseekers. A city of 75,000 people, or thereabouts, should have resources within itself and its immediate surroundings to maintain at least a large proportion of its population, apart from extraneous aid. Indeed, it must have such resources if it is to continue itors and new railroads is all very well in its way. They are excellent as an addition to the bill of fare, but not as a main article of diet.

We need to produce more; to depend more upon ourselves; to become more self-supporting. If one desires to see how far we are at present from that point, it is only necessary to read the lists of imports to Los Angeles, or to go into a grocery and produce store and inquire where the various articles come from. Los Angeles sits like a veritable queen in the midst of one of the most fertile valleys upon earth, surrounded by hundreds of thousands of acres of the most fertile soil in the world-soil which will grow anything except equatorial vegetation, as we are constantly informing outsiders, and with truth. Yet there are thousands upon thousands of these acres untilled and unutilized, except, perhaps, as pasture during a portion of the year, for which pursose they will, perhaps, pay a third of the taxes on them, while at the same time we are importing by the carload our hams, bacon, cheese butter, eggs, poultry, potatoes and other produce.

We have here the finest fruit-growing country in the world. Our fruits mature earlier and bear more heavily than elsewhere. It would naturally be supposed that we should import very few, if any, fruit products. Ask the fruiterer whence come most of his apples and limes, and almonds and figs. Ask the grocer where most of his canned fruits, dried fruits, jams, jellies and glaced fruits are prepared. Only yesterday we saw a letter from the foreman of one of the largest fruitcrystallizing establishments in Paris expressing astonishment at the absence of crystallized fruit in the United States exhibit of the Exposition, and asking whether there was not a good opening for such an industry in Southern California. To our shame must it be said that of all the countries of North and South America the Argentine Republic alone had an exhibit of crystalized fruits. It is no wonder that this Frenchman was surprised, after he had heard so much about the horticultural resources of this region. Some of our confectionery stores offer for sale candied orange, rose and violet blossoms at a price which gives you almost a spoonful for 10 cents. These importations to a land where flowers grow almost spontaneously, like weeds, come from the Mediterranean. So one might run through a list of products as long as one's arm, all of which could be grown and prepared here to perfection, yet for which we now send away the sands of dollars a week, thus making noney scarce and keeping us poor. Meantime, small principalities of fertile soil lie untilled, and the Easterner who is asked to purchase wonders why make the land pay taxes. It is not alone on the products of the soil that we need to turn over a new leaf. We consumed many manufactured articles which might well be made here-to begin with, on a small and tentative scale. It is not necessary to enumerate these again here. we have done so many times of late. sites may be bought cheap, or would be donated, and labor is no longer so much higher than in the East. It would be a good thing if some of our wealthy citizens would resolve to make a new departure with the new year-to transfer a small portion of their funds from mortgages to manufactures, and thus make their mortgages more valuable as security.

MR. DE YOUNG-MR. SEARS-MR. STANFORD.

The San Francisco Chronicle of the 17th inst. said editorially, under the head of "Sears's Appointment":

A contemporary which sometimes makes a feeble pretense of being Republican, says of the nomination of William H. Sears: "The appointment of William H. Sears Collector of Internal Revenue signifies the defeat of M. H. de Young of the National Republican Committee."

And the Chronicle admits the assertion, going on to criticise the appointment, and Senator Stanford for recommending it, and the President for making it. The editorial boldly asserts that the motive of Mr. Stanford in making the recommendation was to secure for his own political benefit the services of an officer-holder whom he has been led to believe is a tower of political strength; but "he may find him to be no better than a broken reed," says the Chronicle We make note of this somewhat significant locking of horns between the Senator and the powerful journalist, not because we have any special interest in the conflict, or desire to see it arise or progress, but for the reason that Mr. De Young is understood to have an eye on the next United States Senatorship, in which direction Mr. Stanford is looking also: Put this and that together, and you will have no difficulty in "getting onto" the trend of things politically.

SAN DIEGO'S PROJECTED RAIL-ROAD.

The Railroad Extension Committee of San Diego, in the nature of a pectus, which is designed to set forth bers of the Railroad Extension Com mittee, who "unanimously and earnestly recommend the immediate consummation of this arrangement. The fact that this committee repre sents a subscription already made amounting to $78,000, actual cash value, may have some bearing upon their competency to speak as they do in the address as published. It is proof, at least, that theirs is not a faith without works. Other members of the soliciting committees represent subscriptions amounting to $14,500. making a total of $92,500 that has been subscribed by those actively engaged in the work of raising this subsidy.

The San Diego papers strongly urge the subscription of the required amount.
Of course, as we previously remarked, it stands to reason that any new railroad from Utah or elsewhere to Southern California will have for its actual chief terminal point Los Angeles, the chief city of Southern California, whatever its nominal terminal, induced by subsidy, may be. To be lieve otherwise is equivalent to believe ing that a railroad would build from Chicago to the Atlantic Coast without reaching New York. Los Angeles can therefore afford to give San Diegans every encouragement in subscribing to this enterprise, and might, indeed, well afford to "chip in" a few thousands themselves. Half a million is. however, a very large sum, and we fear that our southern neighbor will find it difficult to raise that amount. We shall be delighted to learn that we are mistaken.

THE Philadelphia Public Ledger directs attention to the fact that since the Brooks high license law went into effect the deaths from "alcoholism" in Philadelphia, according to the Board of Health returns, have fallen from 141 in 1887 to 70 in 1888 and 57 in 1889 while the deaths from mania-apotu have dropped from 19 in 1887 to 9 each in 1888 and 1889

THE New England papers are busy in inventing reasons for the abandon ment of New England farms. The Boston Journal calls for the importation of Swedish families. Still the farms remain unoccupied.

PREPARING FOR THE CENSUS.

Population of Southern States Too High, Northern Too Low.

The eleventh census of the United States will be taken next summer. Estimates of population made in advance of the actual count are necessarily imperfect, but they are often found not to vary much from the figures afterward officially obtained. figures afterward officially obtained. A few days ago the Tradesman of Chattanoga published figures compiled by the Governors of the twelve Southern States in answer to a query, and from these figures it appears that the present population of the Southern States is 19,489,150, against 14,638,936 in 1880.

In the twelve States mentioned be-In the twelve States mentioned below the customary decennial enumeration was made in 1885—Colorado, Florida, Iowa, Kansas, Massachusetta, Michigan, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Jersey, Oregon, Rhode Island and Wisconsin. Thereby the present rate of increase was ascertained.
In the four new States of South Dakota, Washington, Montana and North Dakota, the vote lately cast for Con-

Dakota the vote lately cast for Congressmen indicates pretty closely the esent population.

Thus from twenty-eight of the fortytwo States which now compose the Union approximate figures are at hand. Concerning the other States, there is on file in the offices of the respective Secretaries of State information show ing in round numbers the probable size of the present population. Here are the approximate and estimated figures for all the States:

THE NATIONALISTS

DISCUSS CO-OPERATION AND RESOLUTE ON WATER.

Fales Talks About English operative Stores-The Magnitude of Their Enterprises-The Nationalists Opposed to Another Water Franchise.

Lady speakers were a feature of the Nationalist meeting at Temperance Temple yesterday afternoon. They were Mrs. Jinogene C. Faies, presi dent of the American Sociological Society, and Mrs. Dr. Mary F. Munson. The system which Mrs. Fales represents is that of the English coöperative stores, which have been often spoken of. In the course of her remarks she said:

The retail buyer who furnishes his capital is in opposition to the interests of his customer, who replenishes his capital, and the effice of cooperation is to unite the conflicting interests by instituting a system where each purchaser is also part proprietor and shares the profits. The second step is for the united societies to obtain from the producers what they now obtain through the wholesale dealers, and get their supplies at first cost. The first step is to secure united action of individuals; the second of the united societies. The third step is coöperative banking, the concentration of floating capital. s to unite the conflicting interests by capital.

The most important of all is produc-

The most important of all is productive coöperation. The backbone of the economic question is that of profits. The wealth of civilization is built up chiefly from the profits derived from underpaid labor, which go to the capitalists instead of to the worker and consumer. Coöperation comes in here to remedy the aviil and make a fairer. consumer. Coöperation comes in here to remedy the evil, and make a fairer distribution, which is the principle of the Rockdale system, first introduced in England 46 years ago by 28 weavers, with a capital of 8140. In 1882, 38 years from the date of the founding of the store, there were 1200 societies with a membership of 640,000, share and loan capital $40,000,000, annual sales $12,500,000, profits $10,500,000. The Coöperative Wholesale is a trade partnership of over 700 000, annual sales $127,500,000, pronts $10,500,000. The Coöperative Wholesale is a trade partnership of over 700 retail stores, holding amongst them $1,250,000. The store supplies 550,000 members, and every member is a partner in the great concern. It has a bank department with a turn over of $80,000,000. When these coöperative industries become great business centers they will elect their representatives to the national administration. The strength of one will become the strength of one will become the strength of all. But in order to render cooperative industry both in production and distribution successful there are industries upon which they are dependent whose control should not be in the hands of private individuals. Prof. Ely has well said that men are working now with a halter about their necks, and the railroad power holds the end of the rope.

After the address the following resolutions were presented by N. J. Judah, power holds the end of the rope.

After the address the following resolutions were presented by N. J. Judah, and adopted by a unanimous vote:

WHEHEAS, the Honorable Common Council of the city of Los Angeles has been recently petitioned to grant to a certain corporate company a franchise embracing the water rights and privileges now owned by the city; and

The body was that of a man about 35 years of age, five feet nine inches in height, well dressed, had a sandy mustache, and had been dead apparently three or four days. There was nothing on the body by which its identity could be established, but from the printed descriptions which had been sent out, he thought it might be M. L. Dyer, who disappeared from this city some days ago.

The basis of representation for Congressmen rose steadily from 30,000 in 1879 to 40,000 in 1820, 70,680 in 1840, 130,533 in 1870 and 152,000 in 1880. The States to gain electors will be 175,000 this year. With the additions caused by the admissions of Senators and Representatives from the four new States, the Presidential electors will probably number 450 in the election of 1892 against 401 in 1885 and 1884.

The States to gain electors will be: Alabama 2, Arkansas 2, California 1, Colorado 1, Georgia 2, Indiana 1, Iowa 1, Kansas 2, Kentucky 1, Louisiana 1, Maryland 1, Minnesota 3, Mississippi 1, Missouri 4. Nebraska 3, New Jersey 1, New York 1, North Carolina 2, Ohio 2, Pennsylvania 1, Texas 2 and Wisconsin 1. The four new States will probably have 14 electoral votes, distributed as follows: South Dakota 4, Washington 4, Montana 3, and North Dakota 3.

According to the electoral vote of 1888, with Montana added as Democratic, the Democratic electoral vote of 1888, with South Dakota 4, Washington and North Dakota 3, Washington and North Dakota 3, Washington and North Dakota 4, Washington an Mr. Bell, Dyer's brother-in-law, was be solved.

MUSICAL MOMENTS. Short Selections in Prose and Verse for Music Lovers. (Chi-cago: A. C. McClurg, & Co. For sale by Stoil & Thayer, Los Aageles.) Most welcome to the lovers of melody-the children of song-will be delightful little volume, filled with the choicest selections from the best writers of prose and verse. Take the following, for instance, entitled "An Overture":

Out across its fartherest unknown rim
There fell a whispering of mulfied drums,
Even as one slant ray of purpled-in
Across the altaron the Sabbath comes.

"Then from the highest realms of rapt harmonic sound
There came a voice of muted strings in one long breath,
Full of a sciemn yearning, sweet and so profound.

It so med the expiring sigh of music in its death.

"A simple melody of flute and reeds Flowed softly out acros: the trembling air, Full of a meaning delicate and rare; Some said a dying maiden told her beads."

There are altogether 276 selections in the volume, all set to sweetest fan-cies like the brief extract we have

RASSELAS. Prince of Abyssinia. By SAMUEL JOHNSON, LL.D. New American edition. Chicago: A. C. McChurg & Co. (For sale by Stoil & Thayer. Los Angoles)

This is an old friend in a new dress. This is an old friend in a new dress. What intelligent and well-read person in middle life but has paused over the delightful pages of this delightful book and sighed for this happy valley where wandered this youthful Prince of Abyssinia? What pictures of content and fullness over which to dream! What sources of delight to satisfy with their completeness! Very truthfully has Leigh Hunt said of this work: "For a model of grave and majestic language 'Rasselas' will claim perhaps the first place in English composition, nor do I recollect any work of the kind that contains so many profound reflections, and, with occasional reserve as to their generality, so many

ABDALLAH, or. The Four-leaved Clover. By EDOURD RENE LEFERVRE-LABOULAYE Member of the Institute of France. Translated by Mary L. Booth. New American Edition. (Chicago: A. C. McClurg & Co.) This work, like the story of Rasselas

This work, like the story of Rasselas, is dignified and majestic in style and composition. It is a story of Oriental life, illustrating the life of its peoples and some of the wisest and most beautiful of Mohammedan precepts. It presents also the vivid contrast between the life of the noble Abdallah—the child of the desert whose aspirations were high and pure, and that of Orient the Experian, whom of Omar, the Egyptian, whom Abdallah's mother had nurtured from

Abdallah's mother had nuttured from his infancy, and who was actuated by a spirit of greed and avarice. Who can but admire this picture of the young Bedouin inspired by a love for the religion of his fathers:

"Have you seen the war-horse pawing the earth and snuffing the wind at the sound of the trumpet? Such was Abdallah when Hafiz talked to him of battle; his heart thropbed, his eves grew dim, and his throbbed, his eyes grew dim, and his face flushed. "Oh, God," he cried, "grant that it may soon be my time; permit me to crush the infidel, and make me worthy of the people from which I have sprung!"

"The child of the desert was beautiful indeed, in his long, blue robe confined at the waist by a leather thong passed half a ful indeed, in his long, blue robe, confined at the waist by a leather thong passed half a score of times round his body. His thick, brown hair snaded his face, and fell in curls upon his neck from under his hood. His eyes sparkled with a softer light than the planets that twinkle in the heavens, as, holding in his hand a shining lance wound round with silver thread, he walked slowly with the grace of a child, and the dignity of a man, speaking only when necessary, and never laughing. When he returned from the pasture, 'carrying the young lambs in the skirk of his robe, while the sheep followed him, bleating and rubbing their heads against his hand, the shepherds, his companions, stopped to see him pass, and he seemed like Joseph adored by the 11 stars."

As a whole, it is a stirring story of life and root west.

Joseph adored by the 11 stars."

As a whole, it is a stirring story of life under oriental skies, and most vividly is painted the tendencies of a life of selfishness and avarice, and the ennobling influence of muture of the selfishness and avarice, and the ennobling influence of two contrasting lives, and is full of incident, journeyings through the desert wilds, life in the tent and in pasture as well as in the busy marts of cities, and from its beginning to its close it will hold the attention of the reader.

Wide Awake for January is a very treasury of good things, and it opens with a beautiful poem by Mrs. Cavazza, a Milanese legend, "The Ballata of the Blackbird," in those days "when the Blackbird," in those days "when blackbirds all were white. Mrs. Kate Upson Clark follows with the true Revolutionary-war tale of "Peggy's Bullet"—an exceedingly pretty story it is, Mrs. Gen. Fremont tells a capital story, too, in "The 'Deck-Hand," and various other writers contribute their share to delight and entertain the thousands to whom the Wide Awake is as precious as their daily food. A SAD DEATH. Corener Meredith Holds an Inquest at El Monte.

Yesterday morning Coroner Mere dith held an inquest at El Monte upon the body-of José Maria, an old Indian between 70 and 80 years old. He was found dead upon the station platform in the morning. The evidence showed that he was around the station during the night before, and laid down upon the bench where he died. The verdict of the jury was that the deceased came to his death from alcoholism and ex-posure. The old fellow was the hus-band of an Indian woman who was killed at San Gabriel several years ago. Sad Position.

NEW YORK, Jan. 19.—[By the Associated Press.] Under a pillow in a cot in Bellevue Hospital is a tiny iron cross attached to a gold chain, and the occupant of the cot will be, if he lives one day, Baron Robert von Putkammer. The cross, the highest decoration for valor in the gift of the man empire, was given to him, with a larger cross for breast decoration, for conpicuous bravery on the bloody Gravelotte, where he was an ensign under Von Papein in the Prussian Grenadier Von Papein in the Prussian Grene Guards. Von Putkammer came to York as steward of the ship Ivy from Francisco. Only a few years ago, a son of Herr von Putkammer, Vice-feent of the Prussian Council Ministers and Minister of the terior, who was deposed by son of Herr von Putkammer, Vice-President of the Prussian Council of Ministers and Minister of the Interior, who was deposed by the present Kaiser in June, 1888, to the delight of the radicals, he was a dashing young officer with ample, means and a future. He will not say how he became estranged from his family, but on Wednesday night an ambulance took him to the hospital from Hudson street, and when he thought he was dying from hemorrhage of the lungs he revealed his identity. He now regrets it, but does not deny that he is the Baron's son. He is a man of herculean moid, with strikingly stern and noble features. His conversation stamps him as a man of education, while his horny hands, deformed by hard work in the voyage around the Horn, tell of toil and privations. The doctors say that if he is not worried and escapes the bronchial pneumonia ha may recover, but he will nover be a strong man again.

A BAD MAN. He Attempts to Wipe Out the City and Is Run In.

Manuel Lugo, an ex-convict and hard citizen generally, started out to paint the town red yesterday, and wound up about 4 o'clock at the saloon at the corner of Upper Main and Waters streets, where he proceeded to make things lively. He was armed with a big knife, and threatened to make it very interesting for any one who interfered with him, defying any officer to arrest him. Officers Fay and Sanchez, as soon as they heard of the bad man's antics, went to the saloon, and, after a little tussle, he was disarmed and sent to the police station, where he was locked up. It is said that Lugo has served two terms in San Quentin, and that when he is drinking he is a very dangerous man.

THEATRICAL CRITICISM IN NEW YORK AT A LOW EBB,

Leander Richardson of the "Dra matic News" Arrested for Criminal Libel-The Coming Opera Season in Los Angeles; Patti Tamagno, Juch and Georgine-Roland Reed and a "Bunch of Keys."

That independent censor of things theatrical, "The Black Cat," indulges in a feelin' attack upon the methods of New York newspapers in the matter of theatrical criticisms. It says: "Every place of amusement in the city, from the Fifthavenue down to the lowest Bowery dime museum, is reported to be crowded with the enthusiastic public. crowded with the enthusiastic public. Furthermore, the performance at each and all of these is pictured as of the immeasurably meritorious. Of course, it is well known that these various attractions are not all worthy of praise, and are not all playing to paying business. Then, why do the New York papers publish such misleading and wholly untrue statements? Simply because 'it pays.'

"In one sense of the word, it is a decidedly dishonest custom. The man who reads the publication of Joseph Pulitzer or James Gordon Bennett has to take the statements made as being as nearly true as their agents, the reporters or crities can make them. If one of Mr. Bennett's reporters writes a libelous story, Mr. Bennett must stand the consequences. But if Mr. Bennett's entire city staff, from the city editor down to the night-local man, write all the lies they can manufacture concerning the mythical crowds that attend places of amusement, and the imaginary merits of the amusements themselves, the newspaper proprietor never suffers for it, no matter how many deluded people who draw their information from the daily papers are thereby induced to attend snide amusements, and are consequently swindled out of their hardearned cash." Pulitzer or James Gordon Bennett has Without indulging in a Pharisaical spirit, it may be said that the ways of all Los Angeles newspapers are not the same as the alleged devious ways of the Empire City journals.

The comments of dramatic and society papers upon the movements and doings of prominent people are often more sensational than correct, but as immunity usually follows any scandalous attack, the garbage fiends of the press get careless occasionally. As an instance in point, the New York Dramatic News in its issue of the 11th instatated that Delancy Nicoll, a prominent lawyer, had been seen riding around Long Island in company with Mrs. James G. Blaine, Jr., and with his arm around that lady's waist giving her lessons in the art of osculation. As a consequence of this publication, Leander Richardson, the editor of the paper in question, was arrested on the 15th inst. on a charge of criminal libel. It was proved that Mrs. Blaine had been for five months in bed, unable to move without assistance. Richardson's remarks after his arrest were to the effect that he did not think his statements amounted to a serious thing to say of a single man. He was evidently indifferent as to how serious it might have been for the woman whose name was involved, and whose appirations for dramatic honors have been crushed by a cruel sickness. doings of prominent people are often

Thomas H. Williams, a person of notoriety in certain circles and who was toriety in certain circles and who was recently reported to be married to May Yohe, was not, it appears, married at all to that young woman with the strident voice who made herself conspicuous in the City Directory Company when it was here. May Yohe and her mamma made a sudden departure for Australia and Williams was left lamenting. The Evening Post of San Francisco made a ludicrous account of the whole affair, not halt severe enough, if the facts stated were true, and thereupon Williams proceeded to batter the skull of Editor Hirsch, and is now under bonds to answer for his crime.

amusements which will test very strongly the ability as well as the willingness of its citizens, not to mention the strangers within its gates, to respond in the manner desired. Two opera companies, one Italian and the other English, are the first and heaviest claimants upon public notice. Opera always comes high, particularly the Italian kind, but people will have it, and it must be remembered that they are not asked to pay more for it here than people willingly pay elsewhere.

Apropos of the Italian company in Apropos of the Italian company in which Patti is to give one of her renditions, and in which the tenor. Tamagno, is to monopolize the honors of another night, Patti is reported as saying: "Tamagno and I could not sing together. We would kill each other. I am a vocalist, pure and simple; he belongs to the acting school. He is a lenore robusto and is the most wonderful living tenor. His high, chest C is brought out absolutely without effort." Notwithstanding Mrs. Patti's dictum, the public would likely be willing to take its chances if it could hear the two famous singers together.

In English opera the advent of the Emma Juch Company is assured, and, while it comes fully equipped, it does not ask the prices demanded by its formidable rival. Faust, the ever fresh formidable rival. Faust, the ever fresh and brilliant, is to be the attraction for the opening night, and, judging from impartial sources of information, the opera will be well worth listening to. Miss Juch's performance in it is said to have greatly improved since her appearance here with the National Opera Company. Aided by the fascinating Georgine, by Lizzie Mac Nichol, by Tagliapietra, Franz Vetta and Charles Hedmont, a rendition of unusual merit ought to be assured.

The advance sale for both opera companies open tomorrow morning as advertised elsewhere.

Tonight Roland Reed appears at the opera-house in The Woman Hater for the week. Last night Hoyt's farce, A Bunch of Keys, opened at the theater for a short season of four nights. Another farce is advertised for four nights at the same house beginning the 23d inst., and entitled A Social Session, by the Postage Stamp Company, whatever that may be. The Pearl of Pekin, with Louis Harrison, will open at the theater for six nights beginning the 28th inst. So that, all things considered, the average theater-goer will have his hands full for the next two or three weeks.

TO DECIDE TODAY

Location of the Permanent Exhibit.

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the Ways and Means Committee of the Chamber of Commerce will meet and will decide on a location for new quarters where the chamber can keep up a permanent exhibit of the products of Southern California. A majority of the mem-bers seem to be in favor of Armory Hall on South Main street. This is a good location and will give the chamber plenty of room for exhibits and offices. Several influential ladies have already been seen regarding the annex, and Secretary Patton is of the opinion that there will be no trouble in getting them to join. Los Angeles has long been in need of a permanent exhibit, and if the chamber succeeds in getting the right kind of rooms there will be no trouble in establishing one of the finest exhibits in this State. The State Board of Trade is now in sympathy with the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, and if Los Angeles has a good exhibit the chamber will have no trouble in getting, anything it wants in the permanent exhibit in San Francisco. good location and will give the cham-

SERMON BASED ON THE SAVING OF A KING'S LIFE.

Some of the Attempts That Have Been Made with a View to Killing All of Christ's Lieutenants, and their Uniform Failure.

Rev. T. De Witt Talmage was announced to preach on Sunday, 12th inst., at Paris, France, in which city he was then resting on his return jour-he was then resting on his return journey from Palestine. The text was:

Jehosheba, the daughter of King Joram.
sister of Ahaziah, took Joash, the son of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the King's sons which were slain; and they hid him, even him and his nurse, in the bedchamber from Athaliah, so that he was not slain. And he was with her kid in the house of the Lord six years.—[II. Kings, Xi., 2, 3.

The sermon is given below: Grandmothers are more lenient with their children's children than they were with their own. At 40 years of age, if discipline be necessary, chastisement is used; but at 70, the grandmother, looking upon the misbehavior of the grandchild, is apologetic, and disposed to substitute confectionery for whip. There is nothing more beautiful than this mellowing of old age toward childhood. Grandmother takes out her pocket handkerchief and wipes her spectacles and puts them on, and looks down into the face of her mischievous and rebellious descendant, chievous and rebellious descendant, and says: "I don't think he meant to do it; let him off this time; I'll be responsible for his behavior in the future." My mother, with the second generation around her—a boisterous crew—said one day: "I suppose they eught to be disciplined, but I can't do it. Grandmothers are not fit to bring up children." But here, in my text, we have a grandmother of a different hue.

a king. Her son was a king. And yet we find her plotting for the extermination of the entire royal family, including her own grandchildren. The mination of the entire royal family, including her own grandchildren. The executioners' knives are sharpened. The palace is red with blood of princes and princesses. On all sides are shrieks, and hands thrown up, and struggle, and death groan. No mercy! Kill! Kill! But while the ivory floors of the palace run with carnage, and the whole land is under the shadow of a great horror. a fleet-footed woman, a clergyman's wife, Jehosheba by name, stealthily approaches the imperial nursery, selzed upon the grandchild that had somehow as yet escaped massacre, wraps it up tenderly but in haste, snuggles it against her, flies down the palace stairs, her heart in her throat lest she be discovered in this Christian abduction. Get her out of the way as quick as you can, for she carries a precious burden, even a young King. With this youthful prize she presses into the room of the ancient temple, the church of olden time, unwraps the young King and puts him down, sound asleep as he is, and unconscious of the peril that has been threatened; and there for six years he is secreted in that church apartment. Meanwhile old Athaliah smacks her lips with satisfaction, and thinks that all the royal family are dead.

A TRAGIC CORONATION.

But the six years expires and it is

A TRAGIC CORONATION. But the six years expires, and it is now time for young Joash to come now time for young Joash to come forth and take the throne, and to push back into disgrace and death old Athaliah. The arrangements are all made for political revolution. The military come and take possession of the temple, swear loyalty to the boy Joash and stand around for his defense. See the sharpened swords and the burnished shields! Everything is ready. Now, Joash, half affrighted at the armed tramp of his defenders, scared at the vociferation of his admirers, is brought forth in full regalla. The scroll of auforth in full regalia. The scroll of authority is put in his hands, the coronet of government is put on his brow, and the people clapped, and waved, and huzzaed, and trumpeted.

"What is that?" said Athaliah.
"What is that sound over in the temple?"

And she flies to see, and on her way they meet her and say: "Why, haven't you heard? You thought you had slain all the royal family, but Joash has come to light."
Theu the queenly murderess, frantic with rage, grabbed her mantle and tore it to tatters, and cried until she foamed

at the mouth:

"You have no right to crown my grandson. You have no right to take the government from my shoulders. Treason! Treason!"

While she stood there crying that, the military started for her arrest, and she took a short cut through a back door of the temple and ran through the royal stables; but the battle-axes of the military fell on her in the barnyard, and for many a day, when the horses were being unloosed from the charlot, after drawing out young Joash, the flery steeds would snort and rear passing the place, as they smelt the place of the carnage.

ONE ALWAYS ESCAPES.

ONE ALWAYS ESCAPES. The first thought I hand you from this subject is that the extermination mand in Church or State—some Crombis subject is that the exterminality. When a woman is good, she is apt to be very good, and when she is bad she is and to be very bad, and this Athainsh was one of the latter sort. She would exterminate the last scion of the house of David, through whom Jesus was to come. There was plenty of work is completely dear the land of all God-fearing and God-loving people. She would put an end to everything that could rise anywise interfere with her imperial criminality. She folds her hands and says: "The work is done; it is completely done." Is it? In the swadding clathes of that church apartment are wrapped the cause of God, and years the cause of good government. That is the scion of the house of David; there are playing in your nurse ries by day, imperial souls waiting for the cause of God, and the charty. Athainsh, you may kill all the other children, but you cannot kill him. And this clergyman's wife, but would already may make of extinguishing righteousness. Supers and down with him into the house of the Lord, and there she will come forth for your dethone ment, and obliteration.

Veil, my friends, just as poor a botch does the world always make of extinguishing righteousness. Supers and and the relation rises up and says: "I will just put an end to pure religion." Domit interfere with their he will come forth for your dethone ment, and obliteration.

Veil, my friends, just as poor a botch does the world always make of extinguishing righteousness. Supers and and the will come forth for your dethone ment, and obliteration.

Veil, my friends, just as poor a botch does the world always make of extinguishing righteousness. Supers and and the reason we also and the church for a hiding place when the ment and obliteration.

Veil, my friends, just as poor a botch does the world always make of extinguishing righteousness. Supers and and the church for a hiding all the other children, but you good mand the proposition of the proposition of the proposition of the proposition of the propos of righteousness is an impossibility.

slew 844,000 Christians. And the scythe of persecution has been swung through all the ages, and the flames hissed, and the guillotine chopped and the Bastille groaned, but did the foes of Christianity exterminate it? Did they exterminate Alban, the first British sacrifice; or Zuinglius, the Swiss reformer; or John Oldeastle, the Christian nobleman; or Abdallah, the Arabian martyr; or Anne Askew, or Sanders, or Cranmer? Great work of extermination they made of it. Just at the time when they thought they had slain all the royal family of Jesus, some Joash would spring up and out, and take the throne of power and wield a very seepter of Christian dominion. minion.

ATTACKS ON THE BIBLE.
Infidelity says: "I'll just exterminate the Bible," and the scriptures were thrown into the street for the mob to trample on, and they were piled up in the public squares and set on up in the public squares and set on fire, and mountains of indignant con-tempt were hurled on them, and learned universities decreed the Bible out of existence. Thomas Paine said: "In my 'Age of Reason' I have anni-hilated the scriptures. Your Wash-ington is a pusillanimous Christian, but I am the foe of Bible and of churches."

O. how many assaults upon the churches."

O, how many assaults upon the Word! All the hostilities that have eyer been created on earth are not to be compared with the hostilities against that one book. Said one man in his infidel desperation, to his wife: "You must not be reading that Bible," and he snatched it away from her. And though in that Bible was a lock of hair of the dead child—the only child that God had ever given them—he pitched the book with its contents into the fire, and stirred it with the tongs, and spat and stirred it with the tongs, and spat on it, and cursed it, and said: "Susan, never have any more of that damnable stuff here!"

How many individual and organized attempts have been made to ex-terminate that Bible! Have they done it? Have they exterminated the American Bible Society? Have they exterminated the British and Foreign we have a grandmother of a different hue.

I have within a few days been at Jerusalem, where the occurrence of the text took place, and the whole seene came vividly before me while I was going over the site of the ancient temple and climbing the towers of the King's palace. Here in the text it is Rig's palace. Here in the text it is old Athaliah, the queenly murderess. She ought to have been honorable. Her father was a king. Her husband was send great boxes of them everywhere. ners of our Sabbath-school rooms, and send great boxes of them everywhere. If they get on as well as they are now going on in the work of extermination, I do not know but that our children may live to see the millennium! Yea, if there should come a time of persecution in which all the known Bibles of the earth should be destroyed, all these lamps of light that blaze in our publish and in our fermilies extin. pulpits and in our families extin-guished—in the very day that indidel-ity and sin should be holding a jubilee over the universal extinction, there would be in some closet of a backwoods church a secreted copy of the Bible, and this Joash of eternal literature would come out and come up and take the throne, and the Atbaliah of infidelity and persecution would fly out of the back door of the palace and drop her miserable carcass under the hoofs of the horses of the king's stables. You cannot exterminate Christianity! You can not kill Joash!

SAVING ROYAL LIVES. The second thought I hand you from my subject is, that there are opportunities in which we may save royal life. You know that profane history is re-plete with stories of strangled monarchs and of young princes who have been put out of the way. Here is the story of a young king saved. How Jehosheba, the clergyman's wife, must have trembled as she rushed into the have trembled as she rushed into the imperial nursery and snatched up Joash. How she hushed him, lest by his cry he hinder his escape. Fly with him! Jehosheba, you hold in your arms the cause of God and good government. Fail, and he is slain. Succeed, and you turn the tide of the world's history in the right direction. It seems as if between that young king and his assassins there is nothing but the frail arm of a woman. But why should we spend our time in praising this bravery of expedition when God asks the same thing of you and me? All around us are the imperiled children of a great King.

don't reclaim all our children from worldluess is that we begit too late. Parents wait until their children lie before they teach them the value of truth. They wait until their children lie before they teach them the value of truth. They wait until their children are all warportance of righteous conversation. They wait until their children are all warportance of righteous conversation. They wait until their children are all warportance of righteous conversation. They wait until their children are all warportance of righteous conversation. They wait until their children are all warportance of righteous conversation. They wait until their children are all warportance of righteous conversation. They wait until their children are all warportance of righteous conversation. They wait until their children are all warportance of you have been run upon by misfortine and trial; why do you not come into the shelter? I said to her: "How do you get along now adays?" "Oh," she replied, "I get along to "How do you get along now adays?" "Oh," she replied, "I get along to "How do you get along now adays?" "How do you get along now adays?" "Oh," she replied, "I get along to "How do you get along now adays?" "Oh," she replied, "I get along to "How do you get along now adays?" "Oh," she replied, "I get along to "How do you get along now adays?" "How do you get along now adays?" "Oh," she replied, "I get along to "How do you get along now adays?" "Oh," she replied, "I get along to "How and to you get along now adays?" "How had you get along now adays?" "You," she replied, "I get along to "Laid to her in the you get a HIDING FROM SIN.

The third thought I hand to you from my text is that the church of God The third thought I hand to you from my text is that the church of God h is a good hiding place. When Jehosheba rushes into the nursery of the King and picks up Joash, what shall she dow ith him? Shall she take him to some room in the palace? No; for the official desperadoes will hunt through every nook and corner of that building. Shall she take him to the residence of some wealthy citizen? No; that citizen would not dare to harbor the fugitive. But she has to take him somewhere. She hears the cry of the mob in the streets; she hears the shriek of the dying nobility; so she rushes with Joash unto the room of the temple, into the house of God, and then she puts him down. She knows that Athaliah and her wicked assassins will not bother the temple a great deal; they are not apt to go very much to church, and so she sets down Joash in the temple. There he will be hearing the songs of the worshpers year after year; there he will breathe the odor of the golden censers; in that sacred spot he will tarry, secreted until the six years have passed, and he come to enthronement.

Would God that we were as wise as Jehosheba, and knew that the church of God is the best hiding-place. Perhaps our parents took us there in early days; they snatched us away from the world and hid us behind the baptism of the golden censers all the time, and we have been breathing the breath of the golden censers all the time, and we have seen the lamb on the altar, and we have have been breathing the breath of the golden censers all the time, and we have have been breathing the breath of the golden censers all the time, and we have have been breathing the breath of the golden censers all the time, and we have seen the lamb on the altar, and we have have been breathing the breath of the golden censers all the time, and we have have been breathing the breath of the golden censers all the time, and we have a seen the lamb on the altar, and we have have been breathing the breath of the golden censers all the time, and we have dwelt under the wings o is a good hiding place. When Jeho-

A GENERAL INVITATION. O, men of the world outside there, betrayed, caricatured and cheated of the world, why do you not come in through the broad, wide open door of Christian communion? I wish I could act the part of Jehoshebs today, and steal you away from your perils and hide you in the temple. How few of us appreciate the fact that the church of God is a hiding place. There are many people who put the church at so of expedition when God asks the sate you away from your perils and thing of you and me? All around us appreciate the fact that how down and the you in the temple. How few of a crown, if permitted. But sin, the old Athaliah, goes forth to the massace. Aurderous temptations are out for the assassination. Valens, the Emperon. Was told that there was somebody in his resim who would usurp his throng, and that the name of the man who should be the marper would begin peror's throng. "Kill verybody whose peror's throng. "Kill verybody whose name begins with T. H. E. O. D." And hundreds and thousands were siath, hoping by that massacre to put an end to that one usurper. But in matters not how you spell your name, you come under tits knife, under its sword, under its doesn unless there is sword, under its doesn the sword with the properties of God—some one who may yet reign as king forever before the thronc; there will be some one in your class who has a father and mother who do not know as the propers of the pr youngest, the eldest, the worst, the best, may find their safe and glorious hiding places where Joash found it— in the temple.

These frosty mornings have played havoc with green peas and new potatoes in the vegetable gardense and these luxuries will to a great extent disappear for a time from the market. Potatoes are scarce, and steadily raising in price. Several wagonloads consigned to Los Angeles were transferred on Monday from the Southern Pacific depot to the California Central, the break in the bridge at New River on the former road being so serious that a train could not be sent through in time to meet the demand. The potatoes left on Tuesday, and by this time Los Angeles in is no danger of a spud famine, which threatened during the latter part of last week. Just as the crop of new potatoes were coming into the market, they are nipped by the frost, and everybody will have to feast on last season's crop for a time.—[Anaheim Gazette. These frosty mornings have played -[Anaheim Gazette.

People who are coming here with the expectation of buying bearing orange orchards at a very low figure "because the boom has busted" are getting their eyes opened very exceedingly wide. They find that kind of property higher than ever, and owners are leath te fix any figure whatever. Vacant lands that are now selling at $200 to $300 an acre will double in value in the next three years, and young, thrifty orchards will jump up to much higher figures than have yet been paid.

THE New England Grocers' Association is expected in Pasadena soon. The Board of Trade will receive and entertain them for the day, showing them the beauties of the place, the various points of interest, the big ranches, and where we raise the fruits and other things that they sell in the

A NEW arrival from the land of William Penn tells a pleasant story, in today's issue, regarding his first impressions. It is well for us to occasionally see ourselves as others see us. The stranger's suggestions in the way of municipal economy are interesting. If he becomes a citizen, he can not only talk but vote on the subject soon.

PASADENA and immediate vicinity sent 47,480 boxes of oranges east last season, and the present crop will net growers more money this year than last. The orange is considered a sure vers more money this year than crop, that is, as sure as anything, and there is great activity in the San Gabriel in this direction. Thousands of trees are being planted in all directions, and now that our oranges are well before the eastern buyer, there is little danger of an over-supply.

THE county of Los Angeles has 17,-500 acres planted in wine grapes. 1t produced last year 2.718,792 gallons of wine, valued at $507,944, and 108,637 gallons of brandy valued at $20,490, the industry ranking next to the orange, or second in value of all prod-ucts in the county. The greater part of this wine is made in the San Gabriel Valley in sight of Pasadena. If our Prohibitionist friends controlled the situation this vast and valuable in-dustry would be destroyed.

PASADENA possesses among her citizens and teachers a number of good botanists. Here is a chance for them to distinguish themselves. The Boston Society of Natural History offers a first prize of from $60 to $100 and a second prize of $50 for the best memoir in English on one of the following subjects: (1.) "On the adaptive resemblances of plants in different natural orders;" (2.) "On the processes involved in the production of soils." The memoirs must be in by April 15, 1890. Here is something better yet, appealing to teachers in general. The American Secular Union, 1707 Oxford after year horse-raising will be a more and more important feature. California horses have taken their place in the world, and when Pasadena has a park or suitable place we may have some fine exhibitions here of native stock. Among the California trotters we have Sunol, 2:10‡ and less; Regal Wilkes, 2:20‡; Moreland, 2:31‡; Faustino, 2:35 Among the pacers, Yolo Maid, 2:14; Arrow, 2:131; Gold Leaf, 2:111; while among runners there are many. The Rose and Baldwin ranches, on the eastern border of this city, make a specialty of fine horses; while the San Rafael ranch, to the west, makes a specialty of carriage and enormous Shire draft horses.

Mrs. S. T. Lockwood of Chicago, now visiting her son, E. H. Lockwood, of South Pasadena, recently came across the country in company with ex-President Blanchard of Wheaton College, Illinois, who, with his wife and granddaughter, were on their way to San Diego, hoping to find a mild climate which would lengthen the days of these venerable people, who have long sinces passed the allotted age of man. Mrs. Blanchard was so feeble that it became necessary for them to stop at Las Vegas. Mrs. Lockwood became much interested in these old people, and assisted the granddaughter, less than 14 years of age, in caring for the eld lady, and received a promise that she would write her, and yesterday received a very pleasantly written note, in which she says: "Grandmother is quietly sleeping in the next room, but will never awake again." This young girl's father is a son of ex-President Blanchard, and is the present president of Wheaton College.

Ball and Racquet.
Messrs. Van Doren, Barnes and Gil Messrs. Van Doren, Barnes and Gilmore have been appointed a committee of the Pasadena Tennis Club to confer with a similar committee representing the Raymond Hotel, on the matter of arranging for holding two tournaments in the near future. Although the committees have not yet met, it is likely that the first tournament will be held on the Raymond courts the latter part of this month. A return tournament will then be played on the Pasadena courton Washington's birthday. It is hoped to provide handsome prizes for both events.

Rev. Joseph E. Roy, D.D., of Chicago, one of the leading Congregational lights of the country, preached in the First Congregational Church yesterday morning before a large audience. In the evening he occupied the pulpit of the North Congregational Church.

At the Methodist Tabernacle Mrs. C. L. Robinson, the evangelist, preached in the morning and evening. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon a largely-attended mass-meeting was held.

In reply to Mrs. Robinson's invitation to have the word "escape" explained from a Universalist standpoint, Rev. E. L. Conger took for his morning subject, "How Shall We Escape?" with a view of furnishing such explanation. The large congregation present seemed to be unanimous in the opinion that he succeeded in making the meaning of the word clear. In the evening "Moses, the Leader, Law-giver and Founder of the Hebrew Religion" was the subject, being the third in the series of sermons on "The Great Religious Teachers of the World."

The Y.M.C.A. meeting in Strong's block yesterday afternoon was led by Mr. I. J. Reynolds.

Rev. G. A. Ottmann occupied the pulpit of All Saints' Episcopal Church morning and evening.

The pulpit of the Baptist Church was filled by its regular pastor, Rev. C. E. Harris.

AT THE HOTELS,

This Week's Amusements at the Raymond and Webster.

Those religiously inclined attended church in Pasadena yesterday. Others who thought equal good could be derived from a contemplation of Nature's beauties went forth in buggy, on horse-back, or on foot, and passed the morning most delightfully in the midst of rural scenery such as is found nowhere outside of the San Gabriel Valley. In outside of the San Gabriel Valley. In the afternoon a well-attended sacred concert was given by the orchestra, and the usual evening song service was participated in by a majority of the guests.

The hop Saturday evening was more largely attended than any of its predecessors, the new arrivals swelling the ranks considerably. But there was one trouble: The men were too few. The girls were plenty (not too plenty, for all were charming, in their several peculiar ways), but there were not enough men to go around. The responsibility resting upon those present and the great difficulty experienced in choosing a partner can readily be imagined. Several aged perceptibly under the strain.

Invitations will be issued today for next Monday's german. Some curiosity has been expressed as to who the favored ones will be.

Tomorrow's excursion party will be one of the largest of the season.

Here is the amusement programme for the week: Monday, informal hop;

Tuesday, progressive hearts: Thursday.

American Secular Union, 1707 Oxford street, Philadelphia, offers a prize of $1000 for the best essay, treatise or manual to aid teachers in our public schools in instructing children in the purest principles of morality without inculcating religious doctrines.

The San Gabriel Valley is considered by many horsemen to be a choice spot in which to rear fine stock. The climate and other conditions are admirably adapted for the purposes required, and it will be found that year after year horse-raising will be a more and more important feature. California horse in the week: Monday, informal hop; Tuesday, progressive hearts; Thursday, tothewest: Monday, informal hop; Tuesday, progressive hearts; Thursday, bowever, they will be in good condition.

The Western Union branch office in the Webster receives a fair amount of patronage. It proves of great convenience at night, when it is open until 10 o'clock.

It is the intention of Mr. Webster to give an informal dance each week for the guests and their invited friends. No handsomer ballroom than that of this hotel is to be found in the State. Other amusements, such as whist parties, will be provided for the edification of the hotel's patrons, and a series of stage entertainments will likely be given under the direction of Chief Clerk Cummings, who has had much experience in that line.

The latest names on the register are: J. B. Curtis. San Francisco; William G. Kuntz. F. M. Egleston, Miss R. Warner. Los Angeles; W. S. Parker, Texas; Walter Montgomery, Washington, D.C.; James Mitter, Youkers, N. Y.; Edward Thompson, New York.

Where Light Is Needed. Now that Pasadena has resolved to have a library, and a company has or-ganized to see to it that the trees and shrubbery of the town are better kept, both of which important forward moves have been taken during the past week, the attention of the Council is called to the importance of erecting an electric light somewhere near the Santa Fé station. Strangers arriving or passengers passing through town at night cannot have favorable first impressions of a place where nothing but darkness greets them. A light near the station would be a paying investment to the town, and if it is felt that no additional expense should be incurred for street illuminating purposes, why then move a light from one of the less important suburban stations. both of which important forward

Attorney Polley and City Council Will Have Mr. Mayer Explain.
City Engineer Mayer, in an interview with a Times reporter, published in Saturday's issue, said, among other things, on the local sewer question:
The construction of the outfull sewer to the sewer farm was obstructed early last summer by the people of Alhambra. Although a right of way over Gartield avenue, then a county road, was granted to the city, one of the judges of the Superior Court of Los Angeles held that the city of Pasadens, being a city of the sixth class, was really no "city" under our Constitution, and therefore dispossessed of the right of eminent domain, which cities of a higher class enjoy. These decisions, not being countested by the attorneys employed by the city (aithough an ordinary mind might have been tempted to do so), the city was compelled to bring condemnation proceedings against the persons owning the property on the streets upon which the outful sewer is located.

erty on the streets upon which the outfall sewer is located.

The above lines, together with several other statements made by Mr. Mayer in the course of the interview, have rufiled the usual serenity of the City Council and City Attorney Polley. Yesterday Mr. Polley brought the matter up at the meeting of Council and alleged that Mr. Mayer had cast serious reflections upon him and the Board of Trustees. The board apparently was of the same opinion, for it referred the matter to the Cammittee on Sewers and Sanitary Measures, with instructions to summon Mr. Mayer to appear before the Council on Wednesday for the purpose of explaining his reasons for making and alleging derogatory statements.

Mr. Mayer was not at his office when the Times man called yesterday, but it is not likely that he will do otherwise than stand by his opinions as published in THE TIMES.

JESSE YARNELL, Secretary.

Miss Mollie Adelia Brown sang at Simpson Church yesterday morning. Yesterday was a big day for the livery stables. Almost every team in the city was out, and the outside streets and roads were crowded with turnouts of all binds.

Quite a number of Sunday excursion-ists visited Santa Monica yesterday. The weather at the beach was quite pleasant, it being much warmer than in Los Angeles.

There are several new bunco steerers in the city. They are high-toned rascals, and put up at the best hotels. Two of them have been run out of Portland, Or., and other northern towns.

There are undelivered telegrams at the Western Union Telegraph office for Robert French, H. C. Oakley, Thomas Hazlett, E. H. Taylor, W. B. Hervey and Justin Taurraux. There is an undelivered telegram at the Postal Telegraph office for Alfred W. Dougherty. Next Friday and Saturday evenings, January 24th and 25th; Col. J. J. Hickman of Kentucky, Grand Lecturer of the I.O.G.T., will lecture in Los Angeles under the auspices of Good Will Lodge, No. 313, at the Y.M.C.A. Hall on Fort street, near Second. Good music will be given.

Albert Asevado, a young Mexican, who has figured in police circles on several occasions, and George Will-iams, another of the same kind, raised a disturbance on Upper Main street last evening, about 6 o'clock, when both of them were taken in by Officer Fay and sent to the police station, where they were locked up.

The police officers who have been laid up with the prevailing complaint, are beginning to report for duty. Yester-day Officers Rowan and Sanchez, who day Omeers Rowan and Sandaez, who have been under the weather for several days past, were at the station, as was also Driver Pond of the patrol wagon. Purvis, Weatherman and Woodward are still off.

Yesterday morning about I o'clock Amos Abbott got on a spree and raised a disturbance at the corner of Aliso and Alameda streets. Officer Roberts attempted to arrest him, when he showed fight, and it finally became necessary to handcuff him. He was taken to the police station and kept locked up until 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon, when $25 cash ball was deposited for his appearance this morning and he was released.

It has been about two weeks since

It has been about two weeks since the Board of Police Commissioners officially declared that the law in regard to selling lottery tickets should be enforced, but so far no arrests have been made. The Louisiana agents are selling tickets right along, as are the Chinese, although the latter are not doing so openly outside of Chinatown. It is probable that something may be done during the coming week.

"BISMARCK."

An Old Man with a History Run In by Card. Last evening between 6 and 7 o'clock an old German shoemaker, generally known as "Bismarck" of the state o known as "Bismarck," came to the police station, very drunk, and said that he wanted to see the Chief. He said that he wanted to make a complaint against a man who had stolen his tools, and presented a card on which was written, "Please lock this man up until he is sober." As the old fellow was pretty far gone, he was put inside until he could take care of himself and explain about the theft of his tools.

"Bismarck" is something of a character in his way. Some four years ago he killed a man on First street, and since that time has been a very heavy drinker. The deed was done in self-defense and he was not prosecuted. The man assaulted the old German, knocked him down and was beating him, when "Bismarck" cut him with a shoe knife, inflicting wounds from which death resulted.

A LATE LINE FROM HAYES.

The Corrective Properties of the Juices of California's Vegetable Alteratives Almost Sensational.

A lady formerly of 1221 Mission St., but now of 400 Hayes St., S. F., writes to the Edwin W. Joy Co. as follows: "Mrs. H. T. Eeverly, of Seattle, resided with me last winter. She had long attle, resided with me last winter. She had long been a sufferer from dyspepsia and waterbrash. Her stomach was so weak that for months at a time she lived principally upon milk and the white of eggs. Among other things she tried one of the mineral sarsaparillas only to find that it gave her pains in the head and weak sinking spells. Having taken Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla myself with great benefit in stomach troubles, I induced her to discard the potash preparation and try your Vegetable compound. It began reinvigorating her stomach and in a short time helped her astonishingly. It improved her appetite and strength to that extent, that just before she left, she was beginning to return to solid food. She authorized me to write you this statement accordingly." THAT TERRIBLE "GRIPPE."

It arises mysteriously and appears to have its origin in the atmosphere. The isset time it visited America was in 1803, and it came then, as now, frem Asia. The name 'influence' comes from the suggestion that the maiady was due to the 'influence' of the heavenly bodies, but more modern science has discovered that it is due to the changes in the electrical conditions. Whatever may be the cause, it is a signon congestion of the blood vessels and nucous membrane, principally in the head and throat, and nothing but strong simulants will check this congestion and keep the blood actively circulating. "Formerly this influenza was said to precede an epidemic of the playne, and the person who was about to be taken with the latter, had as a preliminary a fit of sneezing relative, had as a preliminary a fit of sneezing playue, namely, the testible best mountained by playue, namely, the testible best mountained bend; a sore throat and lack of appetite; copious disolarge at the limbs, back cheat, and head; a sore throat and lack of appetite; copious disolarge at the nose; these are some of the symptoms of this dread disease. Upon the slightest approach of any of these symptoms, a nervous feeling, or lassitude, resort should be had to a pure whiskey, which is the only certain means of breaking up this epidemic before it secures a hold upon the system or check it when it has become started. Care should be taken, however, to secure only that which is pure, as the article above named certainly is."
